Edison, NJ – Wednesday, January 22, 2018 – Indecomm Global Services, a leading provider of business process as a service (BPaaS), software as a service (SaaS) technology, and learning solutions for the mortgage industry, announced today new features scheduled for release in its IncomeGenius® income calculation automation software. The new features, scheduled for release in Q1 of 2019, aim to demystify the income calculation process for loan originators, loan processors, and underwriters, addressing changes to 2018 tax forms due to 2018 Tax Reform, and expanding software functionality for even easier ease of use prior to underwriting with additional support for wage earners.

This quarter’s first release of IncomeGenius® will be available on January 28, 2019 and includes features aimed to make calculations easier for loan originators and loan processors. IncomeGenius now gives originators and processors the ability to add potential additional income with the click of a button. IncomeGenius® provides full transparency to the users into all aspects of the income calculation. This clarity improves confidence in the accuracy of the calculations for mortgage underwriters and visibly demonstrates the time savings provided by IncomeGenius®. Additionally, this release includes additional support for the changes in tax forms as part of the 2018 Tax Reform. The new release makes it easier for IncomeGenius® users to transition over to the most significant changes to the tax forms in many years.

To further support the industry’s questions around 2018 tax reform and its impact on income calculations, Indecomm is hosting two free webinars addressing the 2018 Tax Form changes with two interactive “Ask Me Anything” question and answer sessions.
